MAMIE B. AND RAINBOW WON.

Bohemian Won a Fine Race Defeating the Favorite Theodosius.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.)

ELIZABETH RACE TRACK, Nov. 16.—Two days of hard work by Supt. Brush, aided by the cold and wind, has made this track in fairly good condition, and by Monday the track should be dried out thoroughly if the weather continues. As to the conflict with Clifton next week, the management announces that they will race on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays as long as the weather permits, which means war between the two tracks.

After betting had been going on for about ten minutes for the third race it was found that the race was not eligible, as the horse won by a length and a half. The race was declared off, time being given for a new book.

FIRST RACE.
Starters: Mamie B., Rainbow, Theodosius, Bohemian, and a fifth. The race was won by Mamie B. and Rainbow, who won by a length and a half. Theodosius was second, three parts of a length before Bradford. Time—1:08 1/2.

SECOND RACE.
Starters: Mamie B., Rainbow, Theodosius, Bohemian, and a fifth. The race was won by Mamie B. and Rainbow, who won by a length and a half. Theodosius was second, three parts of a length before Bradford. Time—1:08 1/2.

THIRD RACE.

Of the hunter lot, Mr. Pelham sold for $1,500, to F. Exner; Henaline for $200, to Abe Garrison, who also bought Pail Mail for $250.

For the yearlings, W. Lovell paid $300 for Pokino, by Strachino; F. Kraps paid $200 for Bitterweet, by Bersan, and the brown filly by Strachino, out of Alice May, to Mr. Lovell, for $250.

Col. Bruce also sold the four-year-old gelding Avinil, from the Bowie Stables, to Arthur Hunter for $1,500.

MISS BLY VERSUS OLD SOL.
Many Wagers Being Laid on the Fair Circumnavigator's Success.

According to the careful computation of a Californian, Nellie Bly should complete her circumnavigation of the world in seventy-two days, besides having plenty of time to write interesting letters to The World and allowing a short time for unforeseen delays.

Public interest is centered on the plucky girl's venture and many wagers have been laid on her success at good odds.

While the majority are sanguine of her success there are many who doubt the outcome of her quick trip.

Edward Kenna, general attorney of the St. Louis and San Francisco Railroad, who has made a study of rapid transit, says that Miss Bly will be handicapped by her sex.

H. N. Wells, ex-naval officer, declares that while the feat is not impossible, she will need the utmost vigilance, and should she succeed it does not follow that anybody could accomplish it.

The press of the country are greatly interested in her undertaking, and all wish her success; many of those who have followed the fair writer in her past undertakings say that she can do it if any one can.

It is now a contest between Miss Bly and Old Sol, in which the former is given great odds in consideration of her comparatively slow speed, for the "red-faced old man" will have to make seventy-five circuits of the earth while Miss Bly is making it once.

JOHN L.'S CASH TERMS.
"White Men $10,000 Apiece—Colored Men Double the Price."

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16.—President Fuld, of the California Athletic Club, received an answer last night from Captain Cook, representing John L. Sullivan at Boston, in response to a despatch asking if Sullivan was willing to fight Jackson at the California Club rooms, and, if so, to state his terms.

This is the reply:
"Sullivan says: 'White men, $10,000 apiece; colored men double price.'"

The matter will be discussed by the Club on Wednesday next.

Chicago, Nov. 16.—W. E. Craig, of the California Athletic Club, says that organization will give a bigger purse than it ever offered before for a fight between Sullivan and Jackson, but will not offer $25,000, the amount named by Sullivan.

Mr. Craig was in this city on his way to New York.

JEFFERSON DAVIS'S ILLNESS.
A Private Despatch This Afternoon Reports an Improvement.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.)
NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16.—The steamboat Leathers has just landed, with Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson Davis on board.

Mr. Davis was very sick on the trip and the Leathers had to make a landing and secure the services of a doctor.

The steamboat Laura Lee was met some distance above the city and Mrs. Davis was taken aboard and has been in attendance on her husband since.

Mr. Davis is seriously—the officers of the boat think critically—ill.

Accord rain is falling, and it will be impossible to move him from the boat this afternoon.

A later despatch from a member of the family is to the effect that Mr. Davis's condition is improved.

Princeton defeated Harvard in the great championship football game at Cambridge this afternoon. The score: Princeton, 43; Harvard, 15.

Great Crowd at Jarvis Field.
(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.)
JANUS FIELD, CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 16.—Never in the history of college athletics has there been such an assemblage at Cambridge as the one which poured into the inclosure of Jarvis Field this afternoon.

A perfect football day smiled upon the Harvard and Princeton supporters, the skies bright and sunny, the ground hard and firm, and just a suspicion of a northwest wind blowing diagonally across the field.

Harvard men were adorned with boutonnieres of crimson carnations and chrysanthemums, while bunches of orange chrysanthemums adorned the bosoms of the fair supporters of the orange and black.

Long before 3 o'clock every seat in the vast inclosure was occupied and people were streaming across Jarvis Field ten abreast.

Tally-ho covered with cheering Harvard students drove up.

Denser grew the line of men surrounding the ropes, for the reserved seats were all sold early in the day and late comers had to be satisfied with a chance to stand behind a solid mass of humanity anywhere from five to fifteen feet deep.

All were happy, and while confidence beamed from the faces of the Princeton men the supporters of the crimson had an earnest feeling that whatever the outcome their eleven would make a hard, gamy fight and would never give up till the last moment.

Fully 10,000 people were sitting or standing about the field when the two elevens appeared for their preliminary practice.

As the Princeton men came on the field the right of their stocky orange and black encased limbs called forth a rousing "Rah! rah! rah! tiger! hiss—boom—ah!" from a thousand throats, while the whole assemblage loud in a magnificent "Rah! rah! rah!" three times repeated, which might have been heard in Boston.

After preliminary practice the teams lined up as follows:

Princeton:

Harvard:

The Game.
At 2.45 the teams lined up, Harvard having west goal and Princeton the kick off.

Poe rushed and gained ten yards. On the second down Princeton lost two yards, but gained a yard on the third.

Ames kicked, and on an interference by Princeton the ball was given to Harvard at the twenty-fifth-yard line. Princeton's ball at center of field.

Ames made a great rush around the left end and gained twenty-five yards.

Another rush for Princeton gave three yards. Then a Jerseyman fumbled the ball. Crosby grabbed it, and ten minutes from the start Harvard had secured a touchdown by a run the whole length of the field.

Trifford failed to kick a goal. Harvard, 4 points.

And the American Association Adjourned Until Dec. 9.

Looking, as it were, into the very muzzles of the League's big guns, the Brotherhood of Ball Players evince not the slightest tremor.

The players are now confronted by two abled-bodied marauding committees of three each, one appointed to take the law to them in every possible way, the other to receive offers from other organizations of men to take the place of the seceders.

Let every hour the wire ticks off the news of more recruits for the new Players' League, a day yesterday at Albany, the New York Players' Club was duly incorporated.

"The New York Players' Club" is the new, legal title of the old Giants, and the incorporators named are Cornelius Van Cott, Edwin A. McClelland, Edward E. Talcott, John Montgomery Ward and William Ewing.

Their purpose is declared to be the giving of baseball exhibitions and other athletic contests in New York. Capital, $20,000.

Association matters were practically unchanged when the representatives of the five remaining clubs got together this morning.

Rumors had disposed of Baltimore in various ways, but the most probable seem to be that the city is to sell out its players unless it can get the Washington franchise and enter the National League.

A less likely story comes from Lowell, that the Orioles are seeking admission to the Atlantic Association.

The American people have appointed a committee with power to receive and act upon applications for the three vacant places in their association. The committee includes Whitaker, Lazarus, Von der Aue and Harrie.

It was the talk this morning that the Association for the coming season would be made up about as follows: Eastern clubs—Athletic, Baltimore, Hocheater and Syracuse; Western clubs—St. Louis, Columbus, Louisville and Detroit.

Hereafter, the city of Syracuse and Rochester to enter the Association.

After the meeting to-day it became known that Syracuse had been admitted.

The Association adjourned at 1 o'clock, to meet Dec. 9 at Columbus.
